SINCERITY

1956 President's Cup Winner

Because of the interest manifested in the day-lilies we have bred to meet the need for extending the bloom season we are offering three this year, from among the many fine seedlings we have developed of that type, which have been critically observed for a number of years. They commence blooming as the many midseason varieties are signing off which makes them very desirable in those sections where rebloom is rare. No longer need it be said we can have daylily bloom until September—it is November here in West Central Indiana.
